

FOOD SAFETY POLICY

As Assan Alüminyum, which produces aluminum foil products for the aluminum food packaging industry, we commit to apply following principles;

To determine the goals for the sustainability and continuous improvement of the food safety management system and to provide the necessary support and resources to the organization in order to achieve these goals,

To always provide high quality services in order to meet the needs and expectations of our customers during and after production,

To continue our activities in accordance with national and international legal requirements and ISO 22000 Food Safety Management System standard requirements in order to provide safe products and services to the food industry,

To increase the awareness and competence of all our employees, suppliers and subcontractors for our food safety management system in order to eliminate food safety risks,

To create a corporate culture, based on cooperation, feedback and suggestions with our stakeholders, that is open to continuous improvement, and that cares about internal and external communication.
